

Laureate English Program

The Laureate English Program (LEP) provides a flexible framework that universities can use within the local budgetary and cultural constraints. The aim is to help Laureate students reach the level of proficiency desired by employers: B1 (Common European Framework of Reference - CEFR).

Laureate International Universities, Cambridge University Press, Cambridge ESOL and the Bell Educational Trust are partners on an English program aimed at providing a unique learning experience for Laureate students and raising the bar in terms of successful language teaching and learning.

The LEP provides our universities with the best in English Language Teaching materials, assessment tools, teacher training, educational consultancy and research, creating an extremely powerful brand and a competitive advantage.

Getting your Students to B1

In today's competitive marketplace, the ability to communicate in English is an essential skill for graduates. The LEP wants to ensure our graduates are equipped to meet this new challenge. The ability to work in English will allow our graduates to gain employment, to reach higher levels of success in the workplace and to enjoy increased career mobility as they take up posts outside their native countries.

Internationally, the emerging standard for English proficiency is the B1 level on the CEFR. The Laureate English Program will ensure that our students reach at least a minimum B1 level or beyond.

Laureate English Courses

Our courses include: English Study Skills (ESS), English for Academic Purposes (EAP) and Teacher Training (TT). The goal for the ESS/EAP courses is to provide students with study skills and at the same time progress with the level of their English to strengthen their critical thinking skills. The Teacher Training Modules form part of an exciting online interactive training program on teaching reading, listening, speaking, writing, and teaching with technology.
